The Intelligent Gut

Presented by Eric Pierotti D.C, D.O, Ch.D (Adel), DIBAK

17 March 2012

The gut and digestive system are paramount in maintaining health and wellbeing.

The importance of the gut and the whole digestive system cannot be overemphasised. It has an effect on immunity, hormones, and of course absorption and utilisation of nutrients, and thus impacts nearly all systems of the body, therefore has been often referred to as the second brain.

Gut function can also have a strong effect on mental clarity, focus, concentration and mood.

This one day seminar teaches an easy to follow method of assessing structural & clinical biochemical considerations of the digestive & immune systems. Protocols will be taught in a concise and easy to understand manner for those practitioners who want to address their patient's digestion, immune system & hormonal function.

Manual muscle testing will be used as an indicator of functional neurology along with homeo-pathic isodes.

Emphasis will be on Digestion, Chemical and Mechanical considerations including specific visceral corrections.

Your presenter- Eric Pierotti is a successful Chiropractor who brings 37 years of clinical experience to his excellent and informative seminars. Eric is a certified teaching Diplomate with the International Education Committee of ICAK. He is the immediate past Chairman of the International College of Applied Kinesiology and a life member of the ICAK/Australasia. He teaches Applied Kinesiology courses along with clinical biochemistry and nutrition at health schools of Australia and at other seminars both nationally and internationally and is a regular presenter at various conferences.

Metabolics Products- Metabolics (UK) is the leading supplier of the purest nutritional products anywhere in the world. It is the only company to offer a full range of minerals in ionic form and a range of biologically active nutrients in liquid form.

Applied Kinesiology is not a prerequisite for this seminar but basic muscle testing knowledge is recommended. Please contact us if you have any queries as depending on demand, we may also offer a workshop on basic muscle testing prior to the seminar
